KRES Is The ‘Voice of the Bulldogs’

Listen to Truman basketball games on Superstation KRES, the official "Voice of the Bulldogs." Brad Boyer (left) and Hank Jansen (right) will bring the thrill and excitement of Truman basketball to fans throughout the listening area.

KRES broadcasts Truman basketball along with Bulldog football action. Additionally, the station carries other women's action in the sports of volleyball, women's soccer and softball.

The Truman State basketball broadcast begins 20 minutes before each game. A talk with the head coach highlights the pregame broadcast.

After each game, Boyer conducts a brief live interview with the coach.

KRES has been honored by the Missouri Broadcasters Association. The station has earned first-place honors three times for play-by-play of Bulldog men's basketball, including for a triple-overtime Elite Eight men's basketball game in 1999.

Boyer, a native of Memphis, Mo., and a graduate of Scotland County High School, is KRES's sports director and play-by-play man for basketball.

Jansen returns to the airwaves this season providing the color and game analysis of the Bulldog basketball squads. Jansen brings over 20 years of Bulldog athletics broadcasting experience to the table. He also serves as a color commentator for Bulldog football.

KRES also has a new broadcast partner in Easy Listening KIRK 99.9 FM, which will carry some women's and men's games.

Coykendall is the team’s leading...
Aft er a year in which the Truman State University men's basketball team underwent a significant facelift and more youthful, the Bulldogs come into the 2001-02 campaign seeking improvement on a 7-20 record, including 3-15 in the Mid-America Intercollegiate Athletics Association.

The Bulldogs return seven lettermen from last year's team, including three starters. But it's still a young team in '01-02. Last year, it wouldn't have been uncommon to find the team with three freshmen on the floor at once. Head coach Jack Schrader, entering his seventh season with the team, says it made for valuable experience for his young players who make up the squad's core.

"Any experience they can get is helpful," said Schrader. "The sophomore class is the core of our team. We've got some upperclassmen in there, too, but the sophomore class is the core of our team and they're bound to get better."

As a team, the 'Dogs need to get better offensively if they're to experience success in '01-02. Last year, the team ranked among MIAA leaders in team defense, but was near the bottom in offensive categories.

"I want us to improve in our offensive production," said Schrader, who has compiled an 80-87 career record at Truman. "I think defensively we were pretty sound last year, but we want to be a little more aggressive offensively."

Senior forward Scott Coykendall, who highlights the group of returners, showed at times last year he could be an offensive force. He's the Bulldogs' leading returning scorer and rebounder after averaging 12.7 points and 5.5 rebounds a game in 2000-01, his first year with the 'Dogs. At 6-5 and 235 pounds, Coykendall has the size to bang around underneath (a team-high 53 offensive rebounds last year), but is versatile enough to create mismatches on the outside as well. He connected on 35 percent of his three-point attempts last year and also finished second on the squad with 50 assists. Coykendall is the lone returnee to have started every game last year.

Senior Nathan Owen and junior forward Jiri Mikl are the other returning starters, in addition to Coykendall.

Mikl started 11 contests and came off the bench in the remaining 16, but proved to be a steady, accurate scoring threat from the perimeter. He shot 48.7 percent (38-78) from the three-point line and was even better in conference action, hitting 51.5 percent (35-68). The 6-7 and 193-pound Mikl averaged 7.0 points and 3.4 rebounds per game, but averaged 9.1 points and 4.1 rebounds in MIAA games.

Owen (6-2, 200) provided some physical play from his guard position and finished fourth on the team in scoring (8.0 ppg). After struggling early in the year, Owen came on late, averaging 16.3 points in the final three games of the year. This will be Owen's second year suiting up with the Truman men. He transferred to the University before the 1999-2000 season, but redshirted that season.

However, Owen will probably miss at least a few weeks at the start of the season with a broken hand.

Two other seniors join Coykendall and Owen on the roster, centers Dan Mailath and Dusty Bruner. The workman-like Mailath is the team's captain this year.

Bruner and Mailath, the two remaining holdovers from the 1999 NCAA Division II semifinalist team, could see more action as the 'Dogs progress toward using more prototypical post players.

"They've been caught in a situation where we've used more undersized post players in the past, but now, for the first time in their careers, we're using more prototypical post players. So now would be the time to step up," Schrader said.

Mailath (6-6, 230) was a valuable substitute for the Bulldog big men last year, coming off the bench in 13 games to score 24 points and grab 23 rebounds. He also turned it up late in the year, tallying 13 points and 13 rebounds in the final five games he played last year.

Bruner (6-9, 225) played in just one game last year and has grabbed 22 rebounds to go with nine points in 19 career games.

Three other returnees saw significant playing time last year, including guards Aaron Mueller and Torre Finley as well as forward Matt Beran. The three comprise a good portion of the sophomore class that Schrader calls the team's core.

Mueller (5-10, 172) averaged 3.0 points and 1.0 rebounds in 14.3 minutes per game while seeing action in all 27 games. Finley (5-10, 175) was a pleasant surprise from the junior varsity squad, as he averaged 3.2 points and 1.7 rebounds in 21 contests after moving up from the JV. However, Finley garnered 61 of his 68 points in the season's final 11 games.

Beran (6-6, 215) showed flashes of excellence as a freshman in 2000-01, finishing third on the team in rebounding (4.6 rpg) and notching two double-doubles. While playing in all 27 games, he averaged 4.1 points, sixth on the team, but finished second on the team with 15 blocked shots and added 40 assists.

Another returnee to the Truman squad is sophomore Adam Glosier, a 6-7 and 255-pound center and a prototypical big man. However, Glosier is like a newcomer to Bulldog fans who never got a chance to see him in action in a regular season game after he transferred from Army following his freshman year. Glosier missed the entire 2000-01 campaign with a knee injury suffered after the two exhibition games. While at Army, Glosier started every game as a freshman and lead the team in rebounds, blocks and steals. His loss was big for the Bulldogs, who missed the presence of a big man last year.

“He gives us legitimate size and experience inside,” Schrader said. “Even though he's only played one year, he played a lot of minutes at Army his freshman year. We've been undersized for really the last two years since we lost Spencer Douglas, so he helps us out there. And it's nice to have him for three more years.”

Guard Eric Delaney still has freshman eligibility left after injuring his ankle last year and also receiving a medical hardship. Delaney averaged 5.7 minutes per game while playing in three of the team's first six games last year before the injury. Delaney has been slow to recover, still missing practice time due to the injury.

Sophomores Cory Long, Bret Maxwell and Jeff Nepple were all part of the Truman squad last year, moving up from the junior varsity during the season. Long (6-0, 150) saw action in five games last year, while Nepple (6-3, 195) played in three contests. Maxwell (6-5, 205) got in on just one game in '00-01. The three could see significant playing time throughout the season.

Newcomer Mark Huppe should provide immediate help. The freshman was an all-state guard at the Class 6A level in Kansas, averaging 21.6 points, 3.9 assists and 2.2 steals as a senior. Huppe (6-1, 165) shot 49 percent from the field, 47 percent from three-point range and 88 percent at the foul line as a senior and hit a three 64 consecutive games, a mark that is believed to be a Kansas state record.

Another newcomer is freshman guard Matt Brock, who will probably redshirt the season.

While looking for their fourth winning season under Schrader, the 'Dogs face an uphill battle. Truman was picked to finish at the bottom of the MIAA this year by the league's coaches and must battle a tough conference schedule that includes two NCAA Division II national semifinalists over the last two years (Washburn in 2001 and Missouri Southern in 2000).

After the return trip to the season-opening Pepsi Tipoff Classic at Minnesota State, Mankato, a tournament the 'Dogs won in 1998, Truman has non-conference road dates at Lincoln and Southern Illinois-Edwardsville. The team draws Missouri-St. Louis, Quincy, Drury and Culver-Stockton at home before tipping off the MIAA slate.
When Jack Schrader was named head men's basketball coach prior to the 1995-96 season, his goal was to develop a program based on the recruitment of good high school players. He knew this recruitment would be possible due to the high academic standards at Truman State University.

Another of Schrader's goals was for the team to make the playoffs yearly and to consistently challenge for the Mid-America Intercollegiate Athletics Association championship.

In six years under Schrader, the Bulldogs have made five consecutive appearances in the MIAA postseason tournament. He has an 80-87 career record and, in 1998-99, led the team to a third-place finish in the nation. Truman claimed the MIAA postseason tournament championship in 1999, and Schrader was named the conference's co-coach of the year.

Before becoming head coach for the 1995-96 season, Schrader served as an assistant under Willard Sims for four years. He was the full-time assistant for a year following the retirement of longtime assistant coach, Ben Pitney.

In addition, Schrader has coached professional and high school teams all over the world. He directed the Juventud Club in Spain for one year and guided the Grupo IFA professional team for one year, also in Spain.

From 1986-90, Schrader was the head boys basketball coach at Kirksville High School where he was also a Spanish teacher. He taught and coached various sports at LaPlata (Mo.) High School from 1983-85.

While completing his master's degree, he aided the Bulldogs during the 1981-82 campaign and was a volunteer coach from 1983-85 for Truman.

Schrader has also had plenty of playing experience. A native of Olds, Iowa, he starred at WACO of Olds High School in the late '60s and early '70s. Schrader attended Ellsworth (Iowa) Community College for a year before heading to Arizona State for three seasons. As a Sun Devil, he played on two teams that advanced to the "Sweet 16" of the NCAA tournament and one that made it to the Elite 8. They were also Western Athletic Conference (WAC) champions in 1973 and 1975. In 1975, he was drafted by the Phoenix Suns, but played professionally in Europe. There, he competed for the Mataro, Cotonificio and Juventud teams in Spain.

Schrader has a bachelor's degree in political science and a master's degree in sports administration. He and his wife, Fanny, have a daughter, Jazmin, and a son, Jesse.

* Sims' coaching record, according to NCAA, would officially be 308-336. The NCAA is concerned with on-the-court results, and the Bulldogs lost a 1972-73 game to Missouri Western, which was later forfeited to Truman. The Bulldogs also received a forfeit from Lindenwood College in 1981-82 when LC could not reach Kirksville due to inclement weather.
Tim Deidrick is in his second year as the Bulldogs’ assistant coach. He returned to the University in August 2000 after serving the team as a student assistant and graduate assistant from 1992-95.

Deidrick returned to Truman after a three-year stint at Scottsdale Community College (Ariz.) where, as an assistant coach/recruiting coordinator, he helped the program produce three consecutive 20-win seasons. Deidrick was responsible for on-the-floor coaching, recruitment and academic monitoring of the student-athletes, while also serving as a college math teacher, tutor and academic advisor.

A 1995 Truman graduate, Deidrick also served as an assistant coach/recruiting coordinator at St. Louis Community College. He ran the recruiting program for men’s basketball, monitored students’ academic performance and assisted with on-the-floor coaching. While at the college, Deidrick was also employed at Kirby Junior High School in Hazelwood, Mo., as a mathematics teacher.

He began as a student assistant at Truman in 1992 under former head coach Willard Sims and took on the role of graduate assistant coach in 1994-95. He was responsible for film exchange and assisted with on-the-floor coaching, recruiting, scouting, travel plans and scheduling.

Stephanie Horton is in her first year with the Truman State University athletic department and will serve as the trainer for the men’s basketball team. She replaces the retired Clint Thompson, who had served as the Bulldogs’ trainer for 16 years.

Horton earned her bachelor’s degree in athletic training from the University of Tulsa in 1999 and received her M.Ed. from Iowa State University in 2001.

Prior to coming to Truman, the 25-year-old Horton had previously served as a graduate assistant athletic trainer at ISU. There, she worked with the gymnastics, swimming and football teams.

Horton is a native of Deerfield, Kan.

Kevin Kline, D.O.
Team Physician

This will be the seventh season for Kevin Kline to serve as team physician for the Bulldogs.

Kline is a 1984 graduate of Truman and received his medical degree from Kirksville College of Osteopathic Medicine.

He is chairman of the department of orthopedic surgery at Grim-Smith Hospital in Kirksville and an assistant professor of orthopedic surgery at KCOM.
Support Staff

Matt Teeter
Student Assistant

Matt Teeter enters his third season as a student assistant for the Truman men.
An exercise science major from Fayette, Mo., Teeter was a two-time letterman in basketball and also earned four letters in football. He earned honorable mention all-conference honors in basketball and was an all-conference and all-district quarterback.

He is the son of Mike and Sondra Teeter.

Ryan Durham
Student Manager

Ryan Durham is in his first year as a student manager for the Bulldog men’s basketball team.
A freshman pre-accounting major, Durham came to Truman from Godfrey, Ill., and Alton High School, where he played basketball for four years. He earned two letters in basketball and also competed in golf for three seasons.
He is the son of Jim and Elise Durham.

A.J. Crum
Strength & Conditioning Coach

A.J. Crum begins his fourth season of association with the men’s basketball program, but is in his first as the squad’s strength & conditioning coach. Crum played on the men’s basketball team since 1998.
In the 1998-99 campaign, he played in 11 games with the Bulldogs as a walk-on and scored 19 points to go with 12 rebounds. He redshirted the 1999-2000 season and did not play in 2000-01.
Crum is a native of Jacksonville, Ill. and a graduate of Mt. Sterling High School. An exercise science/pre-medicine major, he is the son of John and Carole Crum.

The M.K. Vincent O’Donnell Student Appreciation Award

The M.K. Vincent O’Donnell Student Appreciation Award began in the 1996-97 season to boost student attendance at men’s basketball games.
The award is dedicated in memory of Michael Vincent O’Donnell, who played for Truman in the early 1950s. His sister, Mrs. K. Angela O’Donnell, generously donated the money for the award in Vincent’s name to show appreciation for student support at Bulldog basketball games.
The award is open to all full-time students of the University. At every game, a name is drawn, and that person has two minutes to claim their prize of $100 at the scorer’s table with a student ID. If no one claims the prize, it goes up by $100 increments at each game.
The first winner of the award was crowned in 1998-99, when Kelli Best captured $3,800 at Truman’s home playoff game versus Missouri Southern.
The jackpot starts at $2,000 for the 2001-02 season.

King Memorial Scholarship

This endowed scholarship was initiated for former Bulldog basketball coach, Boyd King, who coached the ‘Dogs from 1946-71. The scholarship is for fifth-year seniors and post graduate work in Bulldog basketball.

For more information about contributing to the Boyd King Memorial Scholarship, contact head coach Jack Schrader at (660) 785-4171.

Purple Pack

Purple Pack is a volunteer support organization that performs a number of duties for the team. Members work one hour per week in the basketball office. They work during games as well, running the halftime shootout, filming the game and selling T-shirts. Pack members also work at practice and conditioning sessions and record stats.
