2003 Truman State University Volleyball
Bulldogs Look To Continue Their Run Of Success In 2003

For the second straight season, the Bulldog volleyball team loses two all-Americans off of the previous season's roster. However, this time, Truman combats that with a much more experienced group as it looks to regain the top spot in the Mid-America Intercollegiate Athletics Association and make a third straight trip to the Elite Eight.

Preseason expectations are high for the Bulldog program that finished third in the final national polls in 2001 and was the national runner-up in the NCAA tournament last year. Reigning national coach of the year Qi Wang once again has a deep roster that includes 12 players who have earned at least one letter at Truman and seven newcomers, several of whom have the ability to contribute right away.

"Like the previous two years, we do not have set goals in terms of wins and losses," said Wang. "We are just looking to get the best effort out of everyone on the squad and to be able to play to everyone's strengths."

A lot of the leadership responsibilities will fall on the shoulders of the lone three-time letterwinner, senior Rachael Shedd. Shedd has been the backup setter to all-America Monica Marlowe the past three seasons. Last season, she saw her most action at setter, playing in 81 games and averaging nearly seven assists a game. Her top performance came against Central Missouri when she played in four games and recorded 56 assists in the Bulldogs' 3-1 win over their top rival.

"I expect my seniors to play very important roles on the team, both on and off the court, and Rachael will do just that," said Wang.

Junior hitter Jessica Sears culminated an outstanding NCAA tournament last year by being named to the South Central region and Elite Eight all-tournament teams. For the season, she averaged 2.81 kills and 3.03 digs a game. Sears was third on the team in kills, second in digs and hitting percentage and led the team with 36 aces.

Sophomore hitters Micaela Walter and Tiffany Graham return after playing key roles as freshmen. Walter was the team's top blocker with 0.77 a game and averaged over two kills a game. Graham broke into the regular rotation toward the end of the season and averaged over two kills a game and had double-figure kill totals in three of Truman's five tournament matches. Junior Kelly Vogel was an honorable mention all-MIAA selection after averaging 3.41 kills and 1.98 digs a game. She hit her stride in the middle portion of the schedule when she had eight straight matches with double-figure kills, including four straight with at least 22.

Junior Rebecca Knefelkamp will fill the libero role for the second straight season after averaging 3.38 digs in 2002. Junior Lauren Dickbernd will also see time at libero as well as defensive specialist after averaging 2.09 digs a year ago.

The Bulldogs' lineup will be bolstered by the return of two players who were out all or most of last year. Junior hitter Annie Nickolai was among the MIAA's hitting leaders with a .344 percentage before being sidelined with an injury after 10 matches. Senior Ashley Patey returns to the team after choosing to sit out the 2001 and 2002 seasons. She averaged just under two digs a game in 1999 and 2000 and played a key role in the Bulldogs' first MIAA championship.

Other returners are sophomores Megan Remley, Melanie Jones and redshirt freshman Amy Kreimer. Remley played in 31 matches and averaged 1.59 kills a game and achieved a .222 hitting percentage. Jones averaged 1.53 kills while appearing in 24 matches.

Like last season, there will be a talented group of freshmen that will compete with the returners right away for playing time.

"The incoming players always give the team more energy," said Wang. "They are capable of challenging the upperclassmen and give our team a lot of depth."

Christine Wagener looks to be the setter of the future for Truman. The four-time all-district player from Parkway West set a school record last year in assists.

The rest of the newcomers are all hitters.

Alex Baker was first-team all-district last year at Duchesne and twice helped her team advance to state. Kelly Grimes' Bettendorf team advanced to Iowa's state competition last year and she earned second-team all-state honors.

Sara Harman's teams at Quincy (Ill.) Notre Dame finished second in the state twice, and she was a Wendy's high school Heisman nominee last year. Sarah Shearman was a three-time first-team all-district pick at Lutheran in St. Louis.

Kelsey Wackerman was twice named all-state for Camdenton. Julie Wohldmann was the team's leading hitter last year at St. Dominic in St. Peters and was named to the all-district and all-metro teams.

The Bulldogs' schedule will be challenging as always, including eight matches against six teams that were in last year's NCAA tournament.

Two of those contests are against teams in last year's Elite Eight. At the Colorado Premier Challenge in Denver, the Bulldogs have a rematch against last year's quarterfinal opponents, West Texas A&M. At the Days Inn Classic in Kirbyville, the featured match will be Truman against Northern Colorado. The Bears spent most of last year ranked in the top five in the country and begin their move to Division I level this season.

Truman opens the year with four matches at the Missouri Western Tournament. The first home match will be on Sept. 2 against perennial NAIA powerhouse Columbia College. The Colorado Premier Challenge is the toughest tournament on the Bulldogs' schedule with eight of the 12 teams in the field making the NCAA tournament last year. That tournament is followed by the Central Missouri Challenge where Truman will have three important regional matches.

Other key non-conference battles include a home match against NCAA tournament participant Rockhurst and the competition on day two at the Days Inn Classic on Oct. 10-11.

The MIAA slate begins on Sept. 17 when Truman opens at home against rival Central Missouri. The Bulldogs and Jennies have been in the hunt for the conference crown the last four years and are the two favorites in the pre-season coaches poll.

Last year, those two teams were joined in the MIAA race by Washburn, who ended up winning the conference title by one match. Truman, Central Missouri and Washburn all return many of their key players from a year ago which could lead to another exciting race. Missouri Western, Emporia State, Pittsburg State and Missouri Southern also return many starters after finishing in the middle of the conference standings last year.

For the first time since 1992, the MIAA will have a postseason volleyball tournament to determine which team gets the automatic bid to the NCAA tournament. The top six teams will make the field with the top two seeds getting a first-round bye. Each match will be played at the home court of the team with the highest seed and the championship match will be played on Nov. 15.

"I feel that the schedule is one of the most reasonable we have had since I have been at Truman," said Wang. "The conference will be challenging, as always, and I would not be surprised if a black horse emerged in the league, much like Washburn did last year."
Qi Wang has the highest winning percentage among Truman volleyball head coaches.

Head Coach Qi Wang

2002 NCAA Division II Coach of the Year

Qi Wang (pronounced Chee Wong) enters his third season as the head volleyball coach at Truman and his seventh year as a member of the Bulldog coaching staff.

Wang came to Truman in 1997 as an assistant coach and the Bulldogs have enjoyed unprecedented success since that time. Since taking over the head coaching reins in 2001, he has taken Truman to the next level and the team is now one of the elite programs in NCAA Division II.

In his first year as head coach, the Bulldogs compiled a 37-2 overall record, the best winning percentage in the nation. The team swept through the Mid-America Intercollegiate Athletics Association with a perfect 16-0 record and won the NCAA South Central region for the first time in school history. Truman fell in the opening round of the Elite Eight national championship tournament but finished the year with a No. 3 ranking in the national poll. Wang was named the MIAA and South Central region coach of the year.

Last season, Wang's team lost several seniors from the year before and had to play without two hitters who were out with season-ending injuries. With a young team, the Bulldogs had an up-and-down regular season but peaked at the right time of the year. Truman won its second straight South Central region championship and advanced all the way to the NCAA championship game before being knocked out of the national tournament. The team ended the year with a 28-9 record and finished with a No. 2 ranking in the final national poll. Wang earned his second regional coach of the year honor and was also named by the American Volleyball Coaches Association as the Division II national coach of the year.

In two seasons as head coach, Wang is 65-11 overall (.855) and has a record of 29-3 (.906) in MIAA play. He has coached four all-Americans, the first four in school history, and his players have received seven all-region awards. Wang's players have received 10 all-MIAA accolades, including the 2001 MVP and freshman of the year awards.

Off the court, the Bulldogs have also excelled the last two seasons. The team received the 2001-02 AVCA/Molten Team Academic award after maintaining a team GPA of 3.45. Individually, two players have been named Verizon first-team academic all-district and all-Americans, one has been a MIAA presidential scholar, three have been an academic all-MIAA and 12 players have been named on the MIAA commissioner's academic honor roll list.

As the team’s assistant coach from 1997-2000, Wang helped the Bulldogs kick off their recent run of success, which, in 2000, included the team’s first-ever NCAA championship and first appearance in the NCAA postseason since 1994. Since coming to Truman, the team has an overall record of 161-54 (.749).

Wang brings an impressive background of volleyball experience to the table. He began his volleyball career as a player in China on the elite professional and collegiate teams in 1974 and started his coaching career in 1983 in China with men’s and women’s volleyball teams. Wang coached the Dalian University of Technology of China, which is the country’s leading university in technology and sports, from 1987-94.

Wang has published and presented numerous scholastic and scientific papers relating to volleyball, sports science and physical education in leading China and international professional journals and conferences.

Wang earned a bachelor’s degree in physical education from Beijing University in 1983 and received his master’s in coaching and teaching theory and methods of physical education from the same school in 1987. He earned another master’s degree in coaching of sport from Eastern New Mexico University in 1996.

Wang and his wife, Xiao-Xin, have a 17-year-old son, George.

2003 Truman State University Volleyball
Carrie Lundy will begin her first year on the Truman bench as she was named the Bulldogs assistant coach in July.

Lundy comes to Kirksville from Ashland University in Ohio. She was the assistant volleyball coach for the NCAA Division II Lady Eagles since 1999 and was the head women's golf coach since 2000.

In her final season as a head coach in 2000, she led the team to a 30-6 record, its first conference title, and Pike was named the MIAA coach of the year. The team also advanced to its first NCAA tournament since 1994 and won the school’s first-ever tournament matches as the Bulldogs advanced to the regional finals.

Before coming to Truman, Pike was an assistant coach at the University of Iowa. She graduated in 1993 from the College of William and Mary (Va.) where she was a four-year starter on the volleyball team. She also earned a master’s degree in 1997 at Murray State (Ky.), where she served as an assistant volleyball coach.

Pike and her husband, Steven, have a two-year-old son, Ethan.
